

Subject: Primitive survival notes
Date: 10 Sep 06

Modern marvels on history channel the other day had a few statements that apply in and preparing for a primitive environment. An average person uses 20,805 sheets of toilet paper per year. This gives an indication on how long what one has stocked up on will last. Before toilet paper we used our left hand with the right hand saved for shaking hands. Brushing teeth with urine will whiten them. Apparently it's the ammonia in it.