

MIKE ADAMS AND STEVE QUAYLE

BATTLE FIELD
AMERICA:
2022 - 2024

Battlefield America Part 1

The European Theater of War and the Risk of World War with Russia

Welcome to “2022 Battlefield America.” I’m Mike Adams, the founder of Brighteon.com and Brighteon.tv. In this docuseries, we’re going to be interviewing Steve Quayle, author and expert, who knows what’s about to happen, because he’s been writing about it for over two decades. In this docuseries, we’re going to be talking about cyber warfare and its impacts on domestic America, social chaos, the vaccine die-off, biological weapons, war with Russia, the global currency reset and even cryptocurrency crashes. We’re going to cover Transhumanism, demonic influence and infestation of our world leaders, as well as the collapsing food supply chain, starvation, famine and increased desperation in America and around the world due to the events that have been weaponized against humanity. Each episode of this exclusive docuseries is free to view, and it’s available on Brighteon.com, and Brighteon.tv. Let’s jump right into Part 1, the European theater of war and the risk of World War with Russia.

Mike Adams:

Welcome to this documentary. I’m Mike Adams, the founder of Brighteon.com. Today, we are joined by our special guest, who joins us for the entire documentary series here. Steve Quayle, welcome to this broadcast.

Steve Quayle:

Well, Mike, it’s really important that we’re filming this, and getting this produced right now. This film, to go into the public mindset, and be presented to the public, because we’re dealing with events that have never happened before, we’re dealing with world events that are escalating, we’re dealing with calamities, we’re dealing with everything. You and I have done, basically, conferences together and individually. You’ve written hundreds, if not thousands of articles. I’ve done 9,000-plus hours of trying to get people to see, and that used to be in the future tense, now it’s present with us. So, I consider it an honor to be on screen with you.

Mike Adams:

Now, what we’re going to focus on here, Steve, is the events from 2022 through 2024. I’d like to start with your take on what are the most eminent threats to human civilization to the integrity or the sustainability of civilization as we know it. We are recording this in mid-December 2021. You and I both know that there are eminent major Earth changing events, civilization changing events, so if you could please start there with an overview of what’s on your mind as your top concerns, and I’ll ask you questions to dig deeper into those subjects, but go ahead with your top concerns in the near future.

Steve Quayle:

Well, Mike, one of the things that’s really on my mind, and I think people have got to see it, is the globalist desire to destroy the food chain, both at the production level and at distribution level. I want to talk about volcanism, because there's all of this talk about global warming, but you can look at the history of the world from a climatological standpoint, and find out that anytime volcanic eruptions are taking place, i.e., like Mount Pinatubo, like Mount Semeru, and especially right now, La Palma in the Canary Islands, people are not aware of it, but global dimming, and I'm talking about the sunlight actually being withheld from the planet, and you made a statement, and I told you, I think this is the Soylent Green statement. Soylent Green was, obviously, a food source made of people, a movie by the same name, but they're trying to kill photosynthesis, and that's really what they're going to do. Photosynthesis is what makes everything on this planet live.

Now, again, Mount Pinatubo, when that erupted in 1991, it lowered the mean temperature of the planet one degree, and there's a climatologist I know, they're running computer simulations, and I'm trying to calculate the next amount of, if you will, degree cooling -- because in 1815 we experienced a year without summer. I think it's really interesting that biblically, we're talking about the times of great darkness if people would put that into a spiritual sense. They got to understand, when you cut the sunlight, you cut the growth of the planet. The thing about manipulating the climate, I think that's the most important thing right now, geoengineering, weather wars and the destruction of humanity. We're going to cover a lot stuff, but that's my hot button.

Okay, let me add some data points to what you just said. I'm going to credit you with coining the term terrorforming. Not terraforming, but terrorforming. I think you and I would both agree that's what we are under right now. Just to connect the dots on what you said, I think its Mount Tambora that erupted in 1815, leading to the year without a summer, which was 1816. All over the world, there was massive starvation, famine, crop failures, climate changes that were devastating, even to Northern Europe, and all over the world. At that time, they did not even know why less sunlight was reaching the surface of the planet, why crops were failing, because not everybody knew that this massive volcano had exploded in the previous year.

As you're saying now, we have these volcanoes, there's the La Paloma volcano that could potentially erupt in a major way, the ejection of particulate matter into the stratosphere would cause the circulation, the global circulation of these ultraviolet ray blocking particles that are suspended in the air for one to two years, causing global crop failures. That would lead to massive famine.

One other point is that Germany has just decided to pause the Nord Stream 2 pipeline from Russia, which is a natural gas pipeline. Natural gas through the Haber equation, or the Haber process, is used to convert hydrocarbons into ammonia, NH<sub>3</sub>, which is the basis for fertilizers and food crop production all across Europe. It seems to me, I'll hand it back to you, Steve, it seems to me that the leaders of Europe are deliberately trying to engineer a fertilizer crisis that will translate into a food crisis that will translate into a geopolitical chaos crisis. Would you agree with that assessment?

Steve Quayle:

Well, absolutely. As we're recording this, war between Russia, and this is critical to understand because of the whole oil presentation to Europe, but the war with Russia is no longer just a war and rumors of war, Mike. What we're seeing is the flying of nuclear bombers on Russia's border, and we're seeing the escalation of Russia challenging US aerial assets. Why is this important? I think I want to put into context for everyone that there has to be a fake World War. It won't be a fake World War, but it will be a fake Armageddon scenario. This is going to be what I call "Hyper War," because it's going to be over in a matter of hours, as far as targeting. It's going to be absolutely devastating. Within a week, whatever is left, there's going to be a call for a global leader, but, in my opinion, I would say most, 99 percent of the world leaders are globalist, they're Luciferians, and they're dedicated to the extinction of the human race, of course, with the exception of themselves. We're seeing that, obviously, and the vaxxassination of children, women of childbearing age, of infants, and you and I have talked about this extensively. The disconnect between humanity, not seeing the end of humanity, and the entire global geoengineering and whether wars are happening in the United States right now -- they are designed to accelerate the extinction of mankind. Jesus said, if he didn't shorten the days for the elect's sake, none of us would be alive, no human being would be alive. These globalists are Satanists, and they are Luciferians -- all in the same group. And they are going to initiate World War III. Even chemtrail pilots now have come forward with headlines that are on the news today and in the alternative news, saying this is an extinction level event. Then, you have people that are promoting what I call injecticide, murder by injection.

What we're seeing and complacently agreeing to is the end of our heritage as human beings, because the transhumanism movement will move in. This is important, I want to make it clear again, the most powerful statement you've ever made, and I believe it's really powerful: the fact that they're trying to kill photosynthesis. Everything in the ocean food chain, everything on the terrain food chain, everything needs photosynthesis, and you and I are carbon footprints to be done away with.

All right, you've touched on a number of subjects there, Steve. We're going to get into transhumanism in more detail today. I'll share with the audience right now that IBM has just announced a quantum leap breakthrough in microprocessor architecture and manufacturing design, that will allow the Skynet-style artificial intelligence, supercomputing systems to fully surveil and control humanity. That has just been announced as of December 14, 2021 on PR Newswire by IBM and Samsung. We're going to get into that later today.

healthrangerstore.com/BABugsDefender

From what you just said, Steve, allow me to just add some more data to that, which is the Haber equation. This shows how you convert hydrocarbons into fertilizer, this feeds 3.8 billion people right now, about half the world's population.

If you were trying to depopulate the planet, if you were going to target the Third World for total depopulation, you would attack the food supply, because they suffer from food scarcity. To do that, you would have to shut down fossil fuels pipelines, which is exactly what Biden is doing, and what Germany is doing, and what's happening all around the world. Then, if you needed to attack and depopulate first world nations, you would do it with a fake pandemic, and you would convince people to line up for depopulation injections of toxic bioweapon vaccines. These two go hand in hand, the First World depopulation and Third World depopulation via starvation. Both of those things are happening right now.

Getting back to what's imminent, Steve, I'd like your assessment of where things stand right now with Russia, with Eastern Ukraine, with Belarus, also in the Black Sea, what's happening there? Let me lead off by asking, is NATO trying to provoke Putin into a kinetic response? Is Putin just trying to say, leave me alone, or does Putin also want this war? What's your take on that?

Steve Quayle:

Well, I would say this, Putin has, as of the date of this recording, initiated, I would say, a global diplomatic move to all the members of NATO, and to all of the governments that are, let's say, friendly to NATO, telling them these are our demands, if you do not meet them, we will act militarily. I'm seeing the most powerful Russian spoke people, so I don't believe he wants war. I'll tell you why. President Putin, just for the record, Russia doesn't have any problems with their wheat crops. Russia has 25 percent of the world's freshwater in Lake Baikal, and most people don't understand, there's already skirmishes, but the Russians have built hypersonic missiles. This is a big deal, Mike, as you know.

Hypersonic missiles are owned by three countries now, and the United States is not one of them. Hypersonic missiles are possessed by Russia, by India and by China. Russia and India just signed a joint development agreement to basically build hypersonic missiles that fly at Mach 18, which is over 13,000 miles an hour, and they just signed it. The United States has no hypersonic missiles. The Soviet Union's throwaway of their warheads is 25 megatons, ours are measured in kilotons. We have basically Aircraft-delivered nuclear bombs, but the vulnerability of the electronics in the aviation, for instance, of the F35 is so, how do I say this, archaic in its architecture. We basically are watching the destruction of all the leads we used to have, and we never kept up with even the situation of radio frequency weapons. I think if you're going to go up against your enemy, you better know their capabilities. Basic Sun Tzu of making war is really critical.

I understand that diplomats have hand-delivered, as of this date, specific Russian instructions to basically stand down, step away or else. Now, you've seen the articles too, they're not kidding. If you go too far, they're saying, we will respond military. Let me just explain something to everybody. This is so critical. Mike, thank you for letting me go here. Russia has reserved the right to use battlefield nukes if the battlefield commanders feel that the Russian troops are in great jeopardy. The United States has no such position. Again, when I say this will be the shortest war in history, it is because the globalists will not sit by and allow Russia to challenge their world leadership. As we're talking today, the United States, let me be more concise, is sending thousands of pieces of artillery into different places and what used to be former Eastern Europe, to be airlifted into the Ukraine.

Now, here's the thing. We've had a senator and a president, you know, lying Biden. But the point being is he just threatened to nuke Russia, this is in the last 24 hours, and also cut them off from the SWIFT system. The SWIFT system, ladies and gentlemen, is how nations transfer money, individuals transfer money across the world.

Number one, Putin cut himself off on purpose from being subjected to the internet, and to cyber-attacks against him, because Russia has an intranet, not an internet, but SWIFT is not controlled by Russia. In essence, Mike, it's my contention, that as we're doing this broadcast, taping this broadcast, recording this broadcast, I'm in the old days of tape, the bottom line is that it couldn't be more dangerous. People said, would you liken him to the Cuban Missile Crisis? I said, no, because in those days destruction was 20 minutes.

Now, look, I want people to understand. Biblically, they talk in the Scriptures prophetically about sudden destruction, and this is why I think it's really critical that people put this into an End of Days context. I got to tell you, Mike, if people will willingly cooperate with their own destruction of not only their body, but their children's body and their grandchildren's body, on a non-scientific basis, they will not accept what you and I are talking about today. Until that, I'm sorry to say, it's too late.

Okay, as always, Steve, you have a vast amount of knowledge on all of these subjects, you're covering a lot of ground. We do have time in this documentary to explore many of those topics that you just mentioned. We're going to get to them one by one. I want to bring it back to Russia real quick, because I have another question for you. We'll add some additional data. Now, I understand your timeline of this, I mean, things could heat up, there could be kinetic conflict in January with Russia, correct?

Steve Quayle:

Correct. You know, the Eastern Orthodox, actually, Russian Orthodox Church celebrates Christmas on January 7, obviously, we're on the 25th. One of the most important things that people are losing track of, at what point -- through threats and counter threats and the disregard for all of the military movements -- does Russia send a message? At that point, and they send a message, how does NATO respond? Mike, all the Western Europe has already embraced, if you will, a philosophical platform of denying anything biblically, I'm talking as a whole -- in essence, the members of the United Nation, and they want the arrival of the Antichrist. What do we hear? We heard last week, Prince Charles make an announcement that the man of peace is here. You have to have a war. Now, when will it happen? I don't know. Could it happen? I think it could happen prior to January 7.

Absolutely. Let me mention the motivation for the United States to initiate this war or provoked this war with Russia, which is that before the midterm elections take place, coming up in, obviously, November of 2022, during which the Democrats know they're going to be completely politically slaughtered based on current polls. Their frustration with inflation, rising food prices, all these things are happening in America. The American people are really fed up with the COVID lockdowns, the mask mandates, the vaccine mandates, all of it. Biden needs a wartime emergency, so that he can declare a state of war, and a domestic wartime emergency in the United, because America is at war with a foreign superpower, such as Russia, or perhaps China, or perhaps even both. I want to put that on the record here with you, Steve, so that the American people know that Biden wants a war, and the Democrats need a war, because they can't allow the midterm elections to take place.

Secondly, they needed an excuse to cover for the disastrous domestic economic policies that have led to this mass inflation, that's actually more than 25 percent right now, in terms of consumer goods. You're losing about two percent per month in the purchasing power of dollars that you have sitting in the bank. Two percent per month, because there's massive looting by the central banks through their fiat currency, money printing operations, that are only accelerating under Democrat control. They recently approved a $2.5 trillion increase in the US debt ceiling. Now, a lot of RINOs went along with that as well, so it's not just the Democrats, it's the kleptocrats class in the swamp.

A couple other things, Steve, I'll turn it back over to you. Let us not forget, when it comes to Russia and Europe, Germany needs the natural gas from Russia, otherwise, Germany will have a gas shortage, a lot of people will freeze, and it's not just Germany, there are many other nations there in Western Europe that are going to suffer a heating shortage this winter, and they're going to freeze. Secondly, Ukraine needs to make money from the transit fees of the pipelines that currently go through Ukraine. Those pipelines, which are bypassed by the Nord Stream 1 and Nord Stream 2 pipelines that go through the Baltic Sea, Ukraine earns about $3.5 billion a year based on the transit fee of those pipelines that are currently in place -- so Ukraine's making money from Russia moving energy to Europe. Germany needs the energy in Europe. The UK needs the energy. Spain, France, Italy, Sweden, they all need this energy. Russia needs the export money because one of the main exports of Russia, obviously, is energy exports. Isn't it true Steve, that war would be financially devastating to all these players? No one wins in this except Joe Biden controlling America. Is that an accurate assessment?

Steve Quayle:

That is an accurate assessment, Mike. Even more than that, Joe Biden is truly a puppet. The globalists, and I believe, literally, Lucifer. People have got to understand this, you couldn't have as many people heads of government that are declared Luciferians doing the same thing at the same time, unless there was a global puppet master. Every single one of the ceremonies that the EU has been involved with, that the EU promotes, are always occult-based. They honor Lucifer, they honor, if you will, the god of forces, which Daniel the prophet spoke of, and now, we're at a time Mike, where they need this war, because remember, these people want our stuff. Didn't Klaus Schwab, the original grandson, in my opinion, of Darth Vader, didn't he want the abolition of all private property, and he made the statement, the time will come when we'll own nothing and be happy. Of course, he'll own everything and be more happy.

What we've got is we've got all of the mouthpieces, in my opinion, for Lucifer, being supernaturally evil-controlled, and that's the only way to explain where the whole world gives its power unto the beast, and basically, the beast makes war on anybody that won't yield to him. Russia will not yield to the Antichrist at this point, neither will China, because they're on record saying, "The West wants their New World Order. We're not going to let them have it."

Meanwhile, what most people don't understand, is there are already skirmishes. We're in a hot war, and by a hot war, we're seeing Taiwan actually taking out Chinese fighters. They made the statement, and the number would astonish most people. Japan is taking out Chinese fighters. India is taking out Chinese fighters. The Indian-Chinese border, this is relevant, it's so critical, so I would call, we're beyond just identifying flash points, we're waiting for whoever puts the finger on whatever button, because again, you mentioned fertilizer. What's interesting, one of the largest fertilizer companies in the world in Louisiana declared force majeure, and we have to deal with that term. Force majeure basically means something beyond their control, where they can kill all contracts. Well, they did it at an interesting time. They did it at the time that farmers already are languishing. I'm not a farmer, I'm speaking for them. They can't get parts for their tractors, they can't get fertilizer, and very soon, they won't be able to get fuel. Then, with all of the volcanoes, 14 days, that stuff circles. The atmosphere -- actually even as high as the stratosphere and all of that acidic particles of sulfur and sulfuric acid -- settles out and it's poisoning the ground. You add that with chemtrails, you add that with, and we'll get to it later, Samsung's smart dust, and I'm going to tell you that there is no more fictional ability to define the last days than the reality that now we encounter. I would say this, not even daily now, it's hour by hour.

Mike Adams:

Let's talk about Russia's hypersonic missile technology for just one more segment here. You mentioned Mach 18, and I had not heard that speed before. Typical hypersonic missile velocities that you see in the media are Mach 5 to Mach 9. I had heard before they were experimenting with Mach 11. Plus, if they have Mach 18, that's an incredible breakthrough. Now, what people need to understand is there are no defenses that are functional against hypersonic missiles moving at these speeds. Number one, the radar tracking and computational response systems cannot react quickly enough. And secondly, the intercept missiles that might be launched by anti-missile systems, they themselves don't move at the hypersonic speeds that would be necessary to catch up with the hypersonic missiles. My first question to you on this, Steve, is we know that these hypersonic missiles from Russia can carry traditional high explosive warheads. Do you have information on whether or not these missiles can be outfitted with low-yield nuclear warheads?

Steve Quayle:

We have even better information than that, as of 48 hours ago, Putin gave the order to use his first strike hypersonic missiles with nuclear weapons, with nuclear warheads. Their favorite throwaway, Mike, is 25 megatons. Now, they have obviously less throwaway, meaning the amount of explosion and nuclear residue that would be left, but they're not playing games because, in essence, remember this, Russia doesn't even trust China. This buddy, buddy see, and they show photo ops, China and, I think, people, obviously, need to understand China and Russia are already having shooting matches on Russia's border with China, because China wants the freshwater of Lake Baikal, just like China is trying to steal the headwaters of India, up in the Himalayas, in the Ladakh region.

Does Russia have battlefield positioned hypersonic missiles at this time? Absolutely. Does Russia have them on submarines? Absolutely. Has Russia achieved something that the United States submarine, if you will, forces have not even considered, and I was told by someone, who used to be a Pentagon, I guess, you'd say, advisor, that the Pentagon had a hard time with the Super Squall torpedoes, which use hyper cavitation, meaning they create an airfoil around the tip of the torpedo. I was flabbergasted literally in the last, I guess, you would say, 96 hours. All of the defense contracts that the UAE had with the United States for F35s all of the Saudi Arabian defense contracts in the last so many days, four days, Mike, $150 billion of weapons have shifted from the contracts with the United States government over to Russia.

When lying Biden gave to the Taliban $95 billion, with a B, worth of stuff, and you see, the Taliban wants to now become a simpler world, and they want to have us release 10 billion. What Biden did was destroy all of the goodwill. We have nobody else on our side now, and even NATO will play their hand to their benefit.

I hope people understand this, that we're the largest arms market in the world. Now it's pretty much the Middle East, and now, Russia has moved in with their S500 systems. By the way, this is kind of what I like to do with my spare time, the minutes I have, is keeping track of weapons development. It also shifts the balance of power, and so, the balance of military power has shifted. Well, basically, our military's woken going broke, and by broke, I mean, they won't even admit the real threat, so you don't want to go up -- if you're threatening some guy, Mike, and you're saying, I'm going to come up against your 50 caliber Ma Deuce machine gun nest, and I'm going to throw rocks at you, it's kind of a good indication you're going to die, because again, we don't have the ability.

The F35s, they've already proven their vulnerability, the state of the art missile cruisers, Donald Cook have been stopped in the water, the F35 that went off the British carrier had its controls taken over, and even our top electronic warfare planes are having problems when they get within a certain vicinity of anything that is the Russian borders, because all of their stuff is subject to the advanced electromagnetic warfare. Our Pentagon, has notoriously just skirted the issue on that development. It doesn't mean they can't do it, but they didn't. In essence, all the cards are stacked against us.

Mike Adams:

It would seem like our Pentagon is led by traitors, and they are deliberately trying to see American hardware destroyed. This was part of the engineered surrender in Afghanistan, leaving behind those tens of billions of dollars of equipment that you already mentioned. In the Black Sea, in the region around Ukraine, this would be a very convenient way for the treasonous leaders of the Pentagon to dispose of a tremendous amount of American military hardware, and also to show America being defeated as Russia attacks.

Now, we've got to go back to the treasonous Obama administration. When Obama organized Iran being able to seize one of our military drones, the fake mainstream media claimed that it was a GPS spoofing capture of a US drone. It was not. They flew it, they landed it right at a major airport in Iran. They handed it over to Iran, so that Iran could have the decryption hardware of our drones, so that they could try to reverse engineer the satellite based decryption communication protocols that were used by the military.

Secondly, I know you remember this, Steve, under Obama, he allowed for -- I think it was also Iran to capture US navy boats. Remember that one?

Steve Quayle

Yes, I do.

Mike Adams:

Yes. And so, that was the same deal. Obama handed over technology, and then also allowed China to carry out the OPM hack, and that's the Office of Personnel Management, I believe, where China then gain access to the complete personnel records, including psychiatric evaluation notes for all US military members, the entire FBI, State Department, everybody in the federal government, all those records, including their social security numbers, home addresses, divorce records, blackmail, material galore, that was handed over to China, by Obama. All they need now after the embarrassment of Afghanistan, is to have the US shown as being defeated by Russian forces in eastern Europe, and then that would probably be the end of the petrodollar, because at that point, globally, it would be very clear that the United States could no longer successfully project military power. Therefore, why should any other country in the world, especially Middle Eastern countries, such as Saudi Arabia, why should they continue to respect the petrodollar? And as you know, Steve, and I'll turn it over to you, because I know you have a vast amount of knowledge in this area, once the petrodollar collapses, the dollar is done, the US Empire is over. It's done at that point. I mean, within days. Your take?

Steve Quayle:

Well, first of all, again, numbers that I've been told that the US owes the Arab nations, especially the oil petroleum exporting countries, and Mike this is a number, I'm not making or missing decimals, it's $180 trillion, $180 trillion. Now, ladies and gentlemen, what Mike is talking about the days of the petrodollar have officially ended, at least with Russia, with Iran, with China, and with the BRIC nations -- Brazil, Russia, India, China.

What is even more problematic, and this is what I really am astonished by, the word force majeure, simply is being talked about now in the annals of the international bankers. The Federal Reserve is nothing to do with the federal government, so there's an operation, here's the name, Sandman. When a certain point is reached, and the international bankers will be the initiators on the plunger, when that happens, Mike, 131 nations will repudiate the US dollar, and refuse to take it within one hour. Because whatever time zone that button is pressed, it will be mutually stated, 131 nations.

Now, Russia has been working overtime to buy a lot of gold to this house, I'd say this disengaged themselves from the carelessness of massive amounts of debt, and the United States is in derivative hell, and everything is repackaged so many times, IOUs upon IOUs upon IOUs upon IOUs. In essence, when in this operation Sandman, obviously the sand in the Middle East, the agreements are already signed, I think that in the last, how shall I say this? Since Afghanistan? Who could trust the United States? We have no allies, we have no friends. We have only, I would call it a national suicide do benefit the globalist New World Order.

If you look at the disheartening of the US military, when you kick out 1,500 frontline pilots, or 1,800 SEALs are told they're going to be kicked out of the Navy if they don't take the jab of death. I want people to understand something, they used to consider the statement I made years ago as overreacting. I said shot in the arm, shot in the head, either way, you end up dead. Now, you have mainstream economic pundits wanting to basically shoot people, their words, not mine, who don't take the vaxxassination, the injection.

Here's the thing, in the Middle East, and this number should stagger you, the gross domestic product of the United States. That means if you've spent every cent everyone made, it takes six years just to pay that off, and then, if you dealt with the derivatives market, it's in the quadrillions of dollars. So, you can see the only way to get rid of the debt, it's always happening in history, is declare force majeure, or come out with a new currency, or whatever. In this case, it'll be digital.

I just want to add to that, from my point of view, the markets have already crashed. They have been artificially pumped up on a financial ventilators ever since the Fed began quantitative easing. Now, the Fed has just recently announced they're going to start "tapering," which means they're going to spend less money buying up bonds, and treasuries, and essentially propping up the entire equities market.

Folks, if you're watching this, you got to understand that for years, the stock market has been essentially nothing but a projection of the Fed printing money and buying the market, and that's been in place for years. They're going to start tapering off of that, but the entire thing is artificial. They're going to raise interest rates next year, because they're trying to chase the inflation that's out of control. The PPI, producer price index, already at 9.6 percent officially. That's almost 10 percent on official numbers. Unofficially, it's over 25 percent inflation right now. They're not going to be able to chase that with a 0.5 percent increase in the Fed funds rate in March, which is the current announcement. We are already living in a market that has imploded, it has completely failed. They just have it on life support, and they're starting to pull the plug on life support.

With that, Steve, talk to us about the financial reset. As you know, they can do it on the timing they want, they can have it happen overnight, and we both believe they will. So, what do you think that they're looking for in order to trigger that financial reset event that will freeze all banking transactions in the current system? You won't be able to get money out of an ATM, food stamps won't work, all your deposits will be frozen, and all the banks will be on "holiday." What's their trigger for making that happen?

Steve Quayle:

Well, I think the trigger was the fact that I'm told of the meetings that took place.

Again, I want to make it clear, I can only know all this stuff, because people, who are in those world, want somebody to present it to the public. Mike, you have your sources; I have my sources. But the thing that will trigger it is no more debt ceilings being raised, okay? Because most Americans don't understand, we borrow all of our money from the Fed, which is basically a conglomerate of international bankers, and so, we've reached the point of no return.

I want to concur with you. There are no markets that can be discovered. It's all manipulation, it's all manipulation. When there is no marketable asset value that they can mark to market, then they can inflate. I'll tell you what's going to happen to precious metals. I'm told that the decisions already been made to cut paper gold, paper silver, paper platinum, these would be futures contracts, these would be the value of storage receipts in half, because it used to be you could use the Liar's paper to collateralize loan. Liars paper means you claim you have, let's say, a ton of gold, or a ton of silver, and that receipt that is stored in a warehouse would be good enough. I'm told they're going to basically mark that at half of the value. If you got a million, a billion dollars' worth of gold or silver, it's only going to be accepted if it's been paper, if it's in hand, full value. What has been happening in the precious metals market is the manipulation in paper gold, paper silver, to drive down the spot price, and then buy up the physicals. There's a complete disassociation now with what gold and silver spot prices versus what it costs to get it, because its supply and demand, but this is across the board. The Russians have built theirs, obviously, they have commodities, so the new currency digital, something will have to be based on a commodity exchange, and that's what we're facing right now.

Again, the stock market is a hypnotist amulet. These gentlemen, what Mike is just saying, if you earn $50,000 a year, you're going to need $65,000, 30 percent more, to breakeven. Mike, even people that now have quit working because of the federal government's stimulus, what happens when the stimulus ends? So, the chaos. I want people to understand this, on the back of the dollar bill, the new world order comes, that's what the seeing eye -- the pyramid is, , and basically order out of chaos. We're seeing global chaos, and don't let the great reset, that is just horse manure. The idea that the global reset is just another name for the new world order, the globalist, and so, that's what it is. It's a new world order, and it's not new. It's the old world order under Satan, who will come on the scene, he will basically declare to the world that he's got, actually Lucifer, in the form of the Antichrist, and the rulers of the world that have yielded their power to him think that they're going to basically end up the princes and the kings over the kingdoms of the earth.

Let's talk about metals, you brought that up, and also, let's get into some crypto here as well. Let me introduce these topics. First of all, in our world right now, every element it seems is skyrocketing in price, except gold and silver, which are suppressed because they are forms of money that are indicators of the financial sustainability or viability of the world. Right now copper is through the roof, right? Aluminum, iron, and iron ore are still way over where they were in 2019. Nickel, platinum, you name it. Somehow gold and silver are incredibly suppressed, because of the paper markets, as you said, because of the manipulation. They're playing mind games with the people. Trying to make people think that, Oh, you shouldn't put your money in silver and gold, because it's boring. It doesn't go to the moon, which brings in crypto. Right now, what I'm seeing in crypto is this incredible just blow off, almost like an eruption of propaganda, to say people are saying sell everything, and buy bitcoin, sell your house, sell your gold, they're saying, and buy Bitcoin. That Bitcoin is going to go to the moon, and the crypto the future, that you shouldn't have anything physical, you should offload everything physical, and just put it all into Bitcoin.

Now, with that said, keep this in mind, folks, because here's what's happened in just the last week. The Russian Central Bank has just announced that they intend to outlaw all crypto in Russia. That's breaking news, at least as we're recording this. Also, the tether stable coin based in Hong Kong that actually purchases about anywhere from 2/3 to 80 percent of Bitcoin, that stable coin has been sued in New York in a class action lawsuit that claims Tether only has four percent of the reserves it's supposed to have, and many people accused Tether of being a digital fiat currency money printing machine that's been propping up the crypto ecosystem, in the same way the Fed has been propping up the market. So, the Fed quantitative easing of buying up all the bonds, and treasuries, and so on, is, in many people's minds, the same as Tether digital money printing, buying up Bitcoin, Ethereum, and all of those coins. We are looking at simultaneous massive bubbles in both of these markets, and also price increases in all commodities, while the suppression of gold and silver is a psychological operation to keep people out of gold and silver.

Now, Steve, here's my question directed to you on this. The suckers who go along with the mainstream media narrative programming, they're going to end up with everything in the stock market, or in crypto when the music stops, and they're going to have nothing in the real world, and that's the WEF. You will own nothing, and you will be happy. Well, I say, Steve, yes, most people will own nothing, and they will be miserable, because they will realize it got taken from them. Your thoughts?

Steve Quayle:

Since the beginning of history, gold and silver have been just measures that God Himself created. Even in the book of Genesis, it said that gold of Ophir was good, just measures the problem with everything that's a paper denominated asset, and that goes for cryptos, and even computerized balance sheets of what you got in the bank, is basically it's in hyperspace, it does not exist in physical form.

Now, here's where the people are really missing the boat, in my opinion. I don't know if you know this, but in the last 24 hours, China has just stated they're shutting down all their ports, and all their exports. About 80 percent of pharmaceuticals come from China, this is a big deal. It's a big deal, because even though you may be a crypto billionaire, you may be a stock market billionaire, but you're not worth anything unless you turn that to real assets. That's what's happening in Montana, it's happening in Texas too. People that have made a lot of money are turning it into physical assets. They want to own something, land, they want water. Mike, in Bozeman, Montana right now, housing prices have, pun intended, gone through the sky, not through the roof, because there's no -- how do I say this -- if you're looking at three bedroom condo in Bozeman, two baths, just standard, brand new construction, you're looking at a $1 million to a $2 million. And so, the thing that people have got to understand is this, at the end of the day, what you're going to want, whether it's food, whether it's medicine, whether it's a vehicle, or as a farmers are finding out, tractor parts aren't going to be available, so then, you go into a barter-based economy, and gold and silver will have a world market, obviously, that's why we have shortwave radios, and also the Galileo news information sources for the satellite phones. I think this is what people don't understand how frustrating it is, will it be, and it truly is frustrating, if the power grid goes down, you're sitting on five million or any numbers behind it, and there's no way to get into your account, because you don't have any, and they said, "well, the power eventually come up."

Well, again, the problem is that when you hold gold or silver, it's physical tangibles. But again, and again, and again, if you can hold it, you don't own it. This is what's going to be true about everything. What we're seeing right now are empty grocery shelves. I made a statement two years ago, and you heard it, because you're at the conference, where we're moving from the realm of where you had an assortment of product, where you had a selection of product to now availability of product, and it's a perfect, let's say, a fitting in to a fake economy, that supermarkets are actually putting up cardboard cutout photographs of food to fill their shelves, because there is no food to fill their shelves.

Again, it doesn't matter, two million pounds of pork recalled, a million pounds of beef all, and you know what, nobody ever follows it up. That's all going into the bunkers and going into the frozen warehouses of the elite. Because in essence, America, we're being pillaged and plundered, and in my opinion, these entities, who are so evil, so Luciferian, are going to take down this country, and they want to depopulate the country. The infamous Deagel Report, they want 200 million, actually almost 250 million people destroyed, and they're bragging about it, and that's by the year 2025.

When we're talking about gold and silver, we're talking about real money. What's a warehouse worth of freeze-dried food worth if everybody's starving? The answer to that is whatever anybody has to pay, and whatever the person who has it is willing to sell it for. That's the basis of barter, that's a basis of economy commerce.

Now, let's get into the cyber warfare attacks on the financial institutions. I think you actually kind of helped us segue right into that, and I want you to be thinking about that, too, after that. Let's talk about the social chaos effects of what happens when the financial infrastructure fails in America, which it will.

For watchers here, Israel recently completed a 10-nation simulations cyber-attack on financial institutions. This looks like another case where they're simulating something in order to take it live, in the same way that the pandemic was simulated by Bill Gates, and a bunch of fake news organizations, and so on, and then, they just rolled it out and made it live. What happens when the cyber warfare takes place against American and even Western European financial institutions? There are two possibilities, it can be a false flag, self-inflicted attack that can be blamed on China, or Russia, or even North Korea, for that matter. Or it could be an actual attack from China and Russia, or one of the other, let's say, to cripple America, in order to try to stave off, let's say, America attacking Russia in Ukraine. Maybe Russia would consider a first strike cyber-attack, to tell America to stop threatening Russia with ballistic missiles, and so on. Steve, your thoughts on the cyber-attacks on the financial institutions, and what that means for the cascade of bank failures that would follow?

Steve Quayle:

Well, first of all, most banks are connected to all of the major money lending banks. Banks have what are called overnight repurchase agreements. So, when the net goes down, and we saw Amazon, and there were 63,000 computers. They never said where they're at. They were offline for two hours. We've seen multiple cyber-attacks. We've seen every database of the credit agencies, maybe one exception, but the ones that really get it bad, don't even talk about it. I once said, Mike, and I want people to understand this, putting your information on the cloud is like offering everything you know, everything you have, to the people that were on to basically steal it all. It was a CIA construct, it still is today.

The thing about having something in your hand is critical. We watched it in the settling of the West. We watch people that would come out in the pioneer wagons. They would pool their money, hire a guide, and then they would go and get land, they build a life for themselves, villages, and small towns would grow up to meet the need of that. Now, what we've got is central planning. Ladies and gentlemen, all the beautiful, wide open spaces, somebody, somewhere, has claimed it as his or her own. We live in billionaire acres now in Bozeman, Montana, and we have the wealthiest people in the world, and there's so many of the most expensive airplanes. I'm not bragging, I'm sad, I'm crying inside. We have the most expensive airplanes in the world flying into here for the third or fourth home, because again, people want the last best place, but guess what, when the people, who want the last best place are the ones that are pretty much bent on destroying the common man, and there is a true pride and arrogance amongst the elite. We saw in Kamala Harris saying, they're keeping record and tracks of the Trumppers to get rid of 120 million people. That's just an offshoot of the weather underground.

Mike, what's happening is this, I believe, with all my heart, God is exposing the fallacy, the fakeness, and the absolute absurdity of people calling something that doesn't exist or something, and in essence, trading that which they could have to feed their families, to get out of lodge, to do whatever. I'm telling you, this is what's happening across the United States. Used cars are up by 25 to 30 percent. Obviously, the major car manufacturers shut down during COVID because of the chips. It's all designed to make people no longer have the freedom to travel, the freedom to move, and what is really problematic in my world, and should be a concern of everybody, they're already talking about global shutdown. I'm advising everybody that listening to this, that'll view this program, Godly defiance versus satanic compliance. Don't go along with it again, it's fake.

Mike, we are at that point now. When you ask what will trigger it, what will trigger it is, I'll call this, the ultimate contact point with greed. The ultimate contact point with greed, when people will understand that, in essence, the people, the international bankers will know that they pretty much got everything they can get, and then they shut it all down. What that will lead to is anarchy and rebellion, and basically, a worst case nightmare scenario in the streets of the United States of America.

Okay, we're going to get to that, Steve. Let's talk about Evergrande and the collapse of the Ponzi of property developers in China, because there is already contagion risk that is spreading not only across China, but of course, also to international bondholders that are holding the corporate paper. Not just Evergrande, also, by the way, there's Kaiser, and there are many other property developers that have been declared, essentially, in restricted defaults so far by Fitch and Moody's and others. It's going to go into full default at some point very soon. They can delay the full default, but they can't stop it, so there's going to be a ripple effect.

Remember, most of these bonds, corporate bonds, they typically have a 30-day grace period. If you miss an interest payment, you have 30 days to make it up before it goes into default. There are other institutions around the world, hedge funds, pensions, insurance companies, maybe even other banks or central banks that hold Evergrande paper, as those payments are not arriving, the interest payments from Evergrande, those other institutions themselves, other payments on the debt they've issued, because it's highly leveraged, well, those payments have a 30-day grace period as well. So, about every 30 days, there's going to be a wave of defaults throughout the year 2022 and beyond.

Steve, my question to you is how big of an effect do you think is going to happen, because of the existence of so much leverage inside the financial institutions that learned nothing from the subprime mortgage collapse in 2008? They learned nothing.

Steve Quayle:

Well, first of all, Mike, it's going to affect everything when people quit lying about it. Nobody wants to talk about their derivative exposure, or their just general exposure to Evergrande bonds or Evergrande. Overnight, this isn't that's an essence. They will trigger the default that will spread throughout the world, David Walker and others have talked about it, the financial crash, and quite candidly, again, the force majeure will have to take place. The reason that it's all staying up, is everybody's lying. This is what was told to me by someone, who's very much involved in the international funds transfer world. He said once, if there was ever a forensic audit, Mike, you would see domino after domino after domino, but as long as people will accept lies, and that's why it's covered up to such a great degree. The problem is, again, they're talking about what's on the surface, but nobody's dealing with the derivative financial instruments that are written against the underlying, what were called supposed assets and good commercial paper.

Battlefield America Part 3

Social Chaos

Welcome to 2022 Battlefield America. I'm Mike Adams, the founder of Brighteon.com and Brighteon.tv. In this docuseries, we're going to be interviewing Steve Quayle, author and expert, who knows what's about to happen, because he's been writing about it for over two decades. In this docuseries, we're going to be talking about cyber warfare, and its impacts on domestic America, social chaos, the vaccine die off, biological weapons, war with Russia, the global currency reset and even cryptocurrency crashes. We're going to cover transhumanism, demonic influence and infestation of our world leaders, as well as the collapsing food supply chain, starvation, famine, and increased desperation in America and around the world due to the events that have been weaponized against humanity. Each episode of this exclusive docuseries is free to view, and it's available on Brighteon.com and Brighteon.tv.

Mike Adams:

Let's get into the social effects of what happens when the world sees this financial reset. In America, a country that seems to be already on the verge of, I don't know, a shattered psyche, of uncertainties, division, and so on. The media has been a hate machine for many years. It's trying to drive hatred and racial division into the culture. The schools have been teaching racial division and victimology. On top of that, what happens, Steve, when the dollar fails, the crypto plunge, the banks are frozen, the food stamps stop and the police aren't there. They're already announcing don't even come to LA, we can't protect you. The defunding of police is accelerating. Even the firefighters at that point will probably say there's nothing they can do. What happens when the American psyche is shattered, and in one moment, all across the country, they realize, not only did the government lie to us, they also stole everything from us, and there's nothing left. What happens next?

Steve Quayle:

Well, then the law of the urban jungle kicks in. We're used to be known as survival of the fittest. It will be to quote the words of Jesus, and I can't do it better than he did, Mike. Then he defined it. It will be such a period of time that there's never been anything like it, and none would be like it ever again. In essence, that contextual ability to understand it is going to be way worse than most can imagine, because, again, remember, global chaos has to come before the New World Order. We're seeing the cities burning, we're seeing shopping by broken windows, in essence, if you want to take it. We have become a lawless nation, and the supreme traitors, my words that used to be in SCOTUS, the Supreme Court United States, have absolutely thrown justice, equality, and equity out the window. It's going to be every man for himself.

As I said, and I stand by this, when it gets that bad, I don't know when, it will only be able to keep what you're willing to fight and die for, same thing with liberty, same thing with freedom. There will always be those people that will prey. The predators will always follow the caribou. Unfortunately, we are now watching, in my opinion and also in the eyes of the world, the United States turning into a third world country.

We have urine and fecal contaminant on the streets of San Francisco that they have to put cell phone maps on so people can avoid it. The smell has reached the heights of the wind currents. It's no longer safe. It's no longer safe in Seattle, it's no longer safe at night or during the day in San Francisco, Los Angeles is a lost cause, and the thing is that all of these cities have one thing in common. De blah-blah-Blasio New York, crime is rampant. Let's take Lori Lightfoot, the mayor of Chicago, murder is off the charts there. So, what we're seeing is what the Bible refers to, and it's a great statement, we're seeing the mystery of iniquity, when there is no law, and that's what is breaking down.

Look at all these leftists hellholes like San Francisco. The mayor who likes to party, and she got caught without her mask at a club or something, but now she's saying well, "We can't put up with this," because people don't even think right. They're stealing Louis Vuitton handbags, they are stealing designer clothing, they're stealing anything that looks like it's worth money, and that is charged because of the, if you will, the elites wanting to acquire it. Mike here's the thing, even when riots break out, what good's a big screen TV, if you run out of soup in your pantry? I mean, it's crazy.

Here's the thing, food and water will be sought after, and I hate to tell people, but if you want a realistic approach to what it's going to look like, go read about the Siege of Stalingrad. Watch what happens to a civilized nation. Look, we go to Venezuela, we can go to the different places, Lebanon in the Middle East. Lebanon used to be, especially Beirut, used to be the jewel of the Mediterranean, and now, it's just a battlefield. So, you know, I guess the best answer is battlefield America, but we're not only fighting each other, because, again, the Bible says ethnos against ethnos. When it says kingdom against kingdom, it's talking about earthly kingdoms, but when it's talking about nations against nations, we're watching, and we're seeing the rise of nations, obviously, it doesn't matter if it's Black, White, everybody, Aryan Nations, Black nations. The division of, basically, the Obama-nation, and I use that word Obama-nation in the same category as abomination, as it sets up such racial strife, class envy, and now it's moving from the philosophical realm, or even discussion realm, to take it to the streets, and it's kill Whitey, or it's killed this, kill that, kill everybody.

See, that's the problem. We have now a nation that, I should say this, won't speak up, and there is no desire, in my opinion, in the United States, for people to live. They look for a political solution, and Donald Trump to a spiritual problem. It didn't come. They set their hopes and affections on somebody doing something for them -- the Supreme Court, Congress, Senate and every single one of America's Hallmark agencies, from the Central Intelligence Agency, National Security Agency, Defense Intelligence Agency, National Recon Office and the FBI, and then everything in between is compromised already.

Here's the thing, there is no law in the land, and how is it that people that get caught for murder, if they're Black or Hispanic, get released on very little bond, and we've got 450 Americans, who did nothing? They are still in jail in Washington, DC, and they're being tortured, and yet, where is the outrage? Can I tell you something? It's outrageous that there's no outrage at the lack of law and the rule of law, and unfortunately, Mike, we're there. You know as well as I do, that there's no turning back from this point. There's none.

Mike Adams:

We are living under a tyrannical lawless regime that stole the election, and holds political dissidents as political prisoners in horrendous torture infested jail cell facilities in the swamp in DC. That's absolutely true.

Maybe we can talk about that even more, but I want to bring us back to the chaos of the cities. You've covered a lot there. Let me add that in Beverly Hills, liberals are buying handguns like never before, so you have anti-gun leftists buying guns and getting trained on them. By the way, just as a little side note, your typical liberal thinks that 50 rounds of ammunition is enough. Boy, are they going to be surprised.

Secondly, you've got the smash and grab, breaking of car windows, and looting of cars happening even as cars sit at red stoplights in the Bay Area, and not just San Francisco, but the Greater Bay Area Oakland, of course. You've got people now parking their cars and leaving the trunks open, the hatchback wide open. They clean out their own cars of everything, they leave the back open, and they put notes on their cars that say, "Please don't break the windows. There's nothing in the car." That's how crazy it has become.

You've got the leader of the Police Union for LA Police Department, law enforcement officers saying don't come to LA, we can't protect you. In addition, you now have a trend, spreading across America, where when Black individuals engage in violent crime and murder White people, Black jurists will set the Black People free. They will never prosecute, they will never have a guilty verdict against the Black person. This is now a race-based jury nullification phenomenon that is spreading across America. It's interesting because, of course, jury nullification is a very powerful force that can be used for good, and can be used for liberty, and to protect individual rights, but when it is coupled with only protecting people of a certain color, then that's a very strange phenomenon, and you run the risk of allowing violent people to go free.

Finally, the DA is in these left wing cities, many of whom are financially supported by George Soros, these DAs are letting people go, violent criminals are being let loose. There are no bail policies that are pushed by people like AOC, and other members of Congress, and local DAs, and so on. So, you can have somebody who stabs a person in New York City, gets arrested, gets let out on bail, the same day goes and stabs another person. The police can't do anything about it, because the DAs are just letting the lawlessness spread. We also saw, by the way, to add to that, Governor Newsom in California, and other governors, releasing violent criminals by claiming COVID is here, and we can't have COVID spreading in the prisons, therefore, let's just release all the violent criminals into society. So, Steve, they're doing it on purpose, obviously. They're creating chaos on purpose.

Steve Quayle:

Well, mayhem is the order of the day. I'm on record, people said that can't be true. Forget the word socialist everyone. It's a communist takeover and take down, even so much so, that I believe, Mike, it was a Democratic senator who addressed Communist Party USA's meeting. Remember this everybody, peace, liberty and justice for all was one of the hallmarks, at least equal justice under the law, was one of the hallmarks of the United States of America. Now, you turn Superman into a transgendered questioning superhero. I remember watching the Superman movies was truth, justice in the American way, and now, basically, that doesn't exist. Here's the thing, Mike, all of the young people have been mostly, in public education and universities level, and they've had their brain sucked out by communist.

Look, I know what the word communist means. There has been no communist revolution that has ever succeeded without a lot of bloodshed, and a lot of slaughter. The last bastion of freedom that America has, this is our freedom to defend ourselves with firearms, and you just brought up the left liberals in Beverly Hills. Remember this, you can afford to be liberal when it's everybody else's money and everybody else's property that's being burned or stolen, but when it comes to yours, that's not fair. Now, the very, I would say, nightmare scenario of the Frankenstein economy in United States, this piece, that piece, it's a monster, is absolutely coming apart at the seams. Instead of designer handbags, I'd advise a woman that can afford that to go get serious combat pistol training. I'm not kidding. To understand that the women suffer the most, all you have to do again is look at Stalingrad, all you have to do is look at Europe, Western Europe after World War II, and even the allies taking over formerly held German territory. Everything is up for sale, including human beings.

Mike Adams:

Steve even right now, even before this collapse, we are seeing parents handing their nine-year-old daughters over to CNN producer pedophiles. CNN is absolutely infested with pedophiles. It's a child trafficking network that pushes out hate crimes against America. There's been a Project Veritas expose of a second producer. This is in addition to the one that worked with Chris Cuomo, I believe. The one that's been charged by the DOJ for, essentially, child trafficking. The mother was willing to partake in this, allegedly.

Now, we both know Bob Griese Walden, he has warned publicly that what he has seen in third world countries, is in times of desperation, parents would begin pimping out their own children in order to just get a meal, to not starve to death in times of desperation. People who are already, they already have abandoned morality and ethics, especially in these blue cities. There's nothing they won't do, including leasing out their own children as sex brothels in order to earn enough money to purchase a meal. Sadly, this appears to be happening even before the collapse. What do you think is going to happen after the collapse?

Steve Quayle:

Well, first of all, it's only going to worsen, but I think sex trafficking and child sacrifice go hand in hand. The true stories coming out of Epstein's Island of perverts, and Bill Clinton's 27 tours of Epstein's Island, and all of the child trafficking charges, especially against CNN, communist news network, in my opinion, is just the facade, Mike, of how truly perverted this nation is. I maintain that when human life in the womb quit being protected, that's the issue about abortion. Look, we can't even reproduce any longer. On the male virulence rate, our sperm count is so low. The institution of marriage, it no longer exists in the way it used to. There's no morality being passed down. And the Bible says that we're watching the time when each man does that, which is right in his own sight.

That is not civilization, that is basically a return to the times of total -- how would I say this -- barbarism beyond anything most people can divine, and that's why it's kind of alluding to.

When the allies came in to Italy, and drove the Germans out, husbands would sell their wives for a tin, and Bob Griswold can quote the page number of this, they'd sell their wives prostitute amount for, I guess, a 10 of sea rations. Even watching Afghanistan after that front on the word human being that turned over $95 billion, and then abandoned the Christians in Afghanistan, the women and children said, blame Trump. Again, ladies and gentlemen, can I say something, Mike, this is the bottom line, if their lives aren't worth anything, or even worth fighting for, or speaking up against, then what makes your life worth anything worth fighting for, standing up against? Because in the alt news world that we're in, Mike, the thing that we're trying to give people is a T word, the truth, but people are so accustomed to lies. They believe the lies because lies release people from two words, responsibility and accountability, and that's one thing in America that no longer exists.

Mike Adams:

Now, Battlefield America is also going to entail mass starvation and food desperation. What people need to understand is that once we have a failure of the financial system, that of course, food can only appear in grocery stores, because of the transactional infrastructure, from farming, and food processing, and manufacturing, logistics, truckers, deliveries, to the grocery stores, and of course, retail transactions, and then the payroll of every person all the way through that entire supply chain. If you lose banking, even if it's a temporary freeze, then you lose the ability to meet payroll, and thus everything shuts down, including payroll of power plants, nuclear power plants, not just coal fired power plants, but also municipal workers, who run the sewage plants in your city. The scenario that people need to really be ready for, especially in these big blue cities, is the sewers stop working, the water stops working, the banks stop working, the food stops working, the power is off, there are no police, no firefighters, no communications, no cell towers. Imagine that in LA when the violent element is just completely unleashed to do whatever they want to do, and they've been indoctrinated with hatred because of CNN and MSNBC, and the liberal media. Talk to us about the food scarcity, and how that's tied into the the mental breaking point of people as they become increasingly hungry.

Steve Quayle:

Well, first of all, one of the famous statements in war theory, different people have quoted it, Von Clausewitz and his classic thick book like that on war said, "When goods don't cross borders, armies do." I'm on record of saying the United States will break off into its own areas, and the greatest commodities in the world of the most value will be food and water.

We know that people historically will sell everything when they start to starve. We also know, Mike, that any cult and any takeover group that's going to feed people is going to give them all kinds of junk food, but they're not going to get any protein, and they're going to, basically, what I would call, anatomically lobotomized people. They're going to cut nutrition, they're going to cut nutritional supplements. Here's how it plays out, starving people begin to go mad, and you've got to have your brain have nourishment, and this is the problem.

By the way, the head of the CIA, years ago, Bill Casey, made the statement, "We'll know our mind control efforts have been effective when everything the American people believe is a lie." That's who said that statement. What's critical for people to understand is that, again, this is less than 96 hours old, I understand, by a meeting that took place in Europe, with some of the most powerful heads of government, or their Representatives. They were told to start drying up the food. "Drying up," in other words, not resupplying grocery stores, wholesale grocers, and the place warehouse grocers, in essence, to shut it down. I believe, even all of these strikes among some of the biggest food chains, the punishment of their unvaccinated workers, I don't think people appreciate the grocery man, they certainly don't appreciate the garbage man.

I want to say something too, how I know rushes in motion for a war immediately. This has to do with your statement. How many people and including me, I've never dealt with dead bodies in the street. I know servicemen who have. I've never watched dogs that have been turned loose, because their masters can afford to eat them, dragging body parts. Russia even just announced yesterday that they're putting their teams to deal with mass casualties already into motion. You wouldn't be putting teams into motion if this was a drill. I've watched every Russian civil defense drill for the last 40 years, at least, or 50 years. What I'm saying ladies and gentlemen, the United States has no civil defense, it has no preparation, there's no government coming to your rescue, but all they've got are FEMA camps, where you can always check in, but you can never check out.

I will add a prediction to all of that, Steve, and that is that many counties and cities in America, because there will be such a die-off, that they will be unable to successfully collect property taxes, because, well, the owners are dead. Instead, counties and cities will begin auctioning off salvage rights to what were once private properties, homes, apartments, even commercial buildings. They will auction salvage rights, and there will be a whole new industry of salvaging products, stored food, firearms, jewelry, everything out of the homes of the dead. Of course, before that happens, there will have to be some teams that go in and remove the dead, and that will actually be a very lucrative high demand industry of removing dead people from apartment buildings, and homes, and offices, or wherever they've died -- died from starvation, died from bio weapons, which we're going to talk about here, because as you know, Steve, they're likely to release more.

Once the dead are removed, they're going to auction off the salvage for this, and there's going to be an entire salvage industry of secondhand cars, for example, whose prices will implode. Used vehicles are very expensive now, as the die-off accelerates, used vehicles will become dirt cheap. Homes will become dirt cheap, because of the population reduction, and used appliances will be frequently salvaged and resold. You'll be able to buy a secondhand washing machine, or a toaster even, or secondhand display, secondhand computer, secondhand firearms, all of it. These are the new industries, following the mass death by Big Pharma, and the financial collapse, and the chaos, and the war that's happening. I just wanted to relay that picture, Steve, but you have any comments on that? You want to elaborate on that?

Steve Quayle:

Well, yeah, I think we're already seeing it. Gangs now and criminals are actually, Mike, holding up 18 wheelers. I know of a couple of trucking companies that literally have armed guards before their trucks and behind their trucks. I believe all these ships that are sitting moored in the harbors, whether it's LA Harbor, Long Beach Harbor, any place that has a freight transport, or freight receiving and transport hub, I believe that all of those ships waiting in the water, I believe they're going to be prioritized, and the same salvage statement you're making, they're going to basically throw over, move over a lot of mat cranes on the ships, and they're going to float those things in on the beach, and you're going to have, basically, what I call the Cabanas Sale of the Century, and I hope everybody understands this.

I said earlier in the program, that China is shutting down its exports, and I drew attention to, obviously, pharmaceuticals, but we've depended on China for so much, that quite, candidly, Mike, anything that's going to be available, it's going to command a price, and people will be trading and bartering. That's how it's always worked in history. We're returning to that. But the criminal element will seize on all those shipping containers, because the average shipping container can carry up to, I think, 40,000 pounds times a million containers. You're talking about a lot of stuff in those containers. You're also going to see farmlands that are productive have armed guards around them, literally machine gun towers. You're going to see that even the stealing of a single blade of wheat is going to be a criminal offense. What you're saying is absolutely this. Again, to the victors go the spoils.

There are people already, I'm sure, getting ready to integrate what you are speaking of, because remember, if they go into mandatory vaccination, costing their lives, what happens to all this stuff in the house? What happens to the mortgage? What happens at this, that, and the other thing? But what most people won't realize is that most mortgages in the United States have already been sold multiple times, through multiple derivatives market, through multiple entities, and when you had China being owed $4 trillion from the US, they got a lot of mortgage money behind the scenes, which goes to your Evergrande statement earlier in the show. What's going to happen is the market, the reality-based market, is going to be -- look, let's say you have a Ford truck in those days, and let's say it's an older truck, an 85 or something. I said, Mike I will give you five ounces of gold. And you find out on shortwave that gold's $4000 an ounce, that's 20,000 bucks. You're going to take the ounces of gold, because when you go down the street, and, obviously, where you live, you could buy a cow for probably two ounces of gold $1,000. So, it's all going to reference in a barter economy into what's the person willing to sell it for, and what's the person willing to pay for?

Yes, I think you're exactly right. I imagine we're going to see gold and silver used as direct currency, not being translated through dollars or anything else. As you said, people will buy farms with gold, or vehicles with gold and silver, or they'll buy food from farmers using silver.

Now, you just mentioned that you anticipate there being firearms guard towers on farms. I want to ask your opinion on instant justice, because the law enforcement overlay of society that creates the impression that society is polite, that overlay is rapidly vanishing. There will be no calling 911, and having other men with guns come and solve your problem. The justice system is a wreck. It is a complete failure. It prosecutes innocent people like Roger Stone, and does not prosecute guilty people like Hillary Clinton, and many others, so it's a long list. The justice system, no one trusts it anymore, and the police aren't coming to save you. What does this mean in your opinion, Steve, in terms of will there be on site executions of thieves, for example? Will there be community-based law enforcement that even adheres to that to say, looters are hanged, for example, and maybe they hang them up and put up a sign as a warning to other looters? Is that where this is going?

Steve Quayle:

Oh, absolutely, because it'll be the law of the jungle. It'll be the urban law of cities. And you know the word vigilantism, most people know this. It started in Montana, down at one of our Virginia cities. Hank Plummer, the game, so people took the law into their own hands, and that's kind of an interesting thing about Montana. But what happens, Mike, I think we're going to be self-organizing collectives. If there are five people that think like you and I do, 10, 50, how about ex vets that have been just brutalized by the system, they will join together to defend their families, their children and each other.

Again, let's just say this, liberals can only be liberals as long as nothing touches their doorposts. But look at everybody who used to be the quasi wealthy liberal, again, Beverly Hills is a good example of it. How about Venice Beach, if you've ever been to Venice Beach, there's some high dollar real estate used to be, but now it's turned into a sewage. What you see on the streets, you're going to see moving into houses. You're going to see abandoned houses being squatterized. And obviously, if the sewers don't work, what happens to the basic premise of sanitation equals good health, lack of sanitation equals bad health, and most people are going to say, "But when does the garbage man come?" My answer to that is, when you drop dead, and they come to pick you up, and I'm not being sarcastic. Because again, what you defined is going to be, basically, and I hate to sound like this, but it's going to be a mortuary-type setting of get which can take, take what you can get, and then be willing to fight. I'm not promoting this, I'm telling you, those are the things that are in the background now, because people were too afraid to speak up. They were too afraid to launch recall petitions.

Look, we watched the presidency be stolen. We watch people that claim to be Christians, and the vice president, he had the authority didn't use it, Trump had the authority. You see, again, what I'm trying to say, I don't blame those guys, I do Pence for treachery, in my opinion, but I blame the people. Apathy, indifference, and believing that someone's going to come to your rescue -- like I said, even Batman and Superman have turned, you can't even call them, and Ghostbusters? Forget it. I won't even tell you what my opinion of the Ghostbusters movie, the latest one. But trust me, you're not going to get any reality or scope of liberty equal justice under law. It'll become vigilantism. It'll become when people join a gang, it'll be gang warfare. When they join a gang you have certain parameters within the gang, you stay within those parameters, you're protected by the gang, and Mike, we have so many gang members in this country. It's in the millions. And we have a situation now, where they have better organization, better communication, better weapons, better arms, and, basically, have no hesitancy to kill anybody they need to kill, to get whatever they want to get.

Battlefield America Part 4

Vaccine Bioweapons

Welcome to 2022 Battlefield America. I'm Mike Adams, the founder of Brighteon.com and Brighteon.tv. In this docuseries, we're going to be interviewing Steve Quayle, author and expert, who knows what's about to happen, because he's been writing about it for over two decades. In this docuseries, we're going to be talking about cyber warfare, and its impacts on domestic America, social chaos, the vaccine die off, biological weapons, war with Russia, the global currency reset, and even cryptocurrency crashes. We're going to cover transhumanism, demonic influence and infestation of our world leaders, as well as the collapsing food supply chain, starvation, famine and increased desperation in America and around the world due to the events that have been weaponized against humanity. Each episode of this exclusive docuseries is free to view, and it's available on Brighteon.com and Brighteon.tv.

Mike Adams:

Now let's shift gears to the die-off that has already begun because of the depopulation vaccine bio weapons, and I will also then bring in some discussion about additional bio weapons that may be released, such as smallpox, or Marburg, or Ebola, or perhaps a hemorrhagic fever, or some other weaponized strain of COVID.

Now, according to the White House, 96 percent of federal workers have taken these vaccines. Their very high vaccination rates, which translates into upcoming death rates among doctors, medical professionals, school teachers, federal workers, as I said, but especially leftists, people who live in blue cities, and this includes the city workers. It also, typically, includes quite a few police and firefighters, although there's a lot of resistance among firefighters, police, paramedics and EMTs, because they've seen the vaccine deaths firsthand, so there will be a surviving contingent of former police and former firefighters, and even active duty soldiers, who said no, even though the Pentagon is trying to mass murder the military with these vaccines.

Steve, here's the question for you on this. When we see who has taken these vaccines, and then the list I just gave, and we look at there are short term deaths, the myocarditis, heart attacks, strokes and so on, there are medium term deaths, which are now accelerating, the antibody dependent enhancement, the immune system failure in the presence of other wild type viruses. Oh, and by the way, the CDC is now warning they're going to be, I think, the CDC said 15,000 deaths a day in America by January, and they're claiming it's from COVID. No, folks, it's from the COVID vaccine. And then, you have long term deaths, which are the autoimmune disorders, the cancer deaths, and the neurological degeneration, and that's going to take about 10 years for all of that to happen. You'll see increased cancer deaths each year. Steve talked to us about the changes in the demographics then, of what this means, as the big population centers actually die off, and the liberal voters die off at a ratio of two to one versus red state voters, because Republicans are saying no to the vaccine, much more than liberals, and what does it mean when entire cities lose a significant portion of their staffers, the people who keep cities running. Your thoughts, Steve?

Well, first of all, I think the word rage comes to mind, because again, we're sitting, Mike, basically line numbers. We know that there are multiple vaccines, batches of vaccines, and they're always testing. This is something I want people to understand. In bio weapons development, if you tweak a bio weapon, you want to see the lethal dose rate, you want to see the rate of infection, you want to see the time of infection. It's just like the big story was 15 vials of smallpox were found in a freezer. That's nothing compared to the to the 12,000 gallons of smallpox that disappeared from the Russian bio weapons plant, a bio prepper rod, when the head bio chemist there, Kenton Alibag, defected and told there were was 12,000 gallons of smallpox in the West. The majority of them said, it's of no concern to us. It will become a concern.

Let me share when the vaccinators and the wealthiest people in the world are telling their buddies, there's no higher rate of return, it's so cheap, and you get the highest rate of return. Remember, just as the love of money, which they love, and the control of money, which they embellish, and basically, just imbibe it, it all ends up in the word "control."

Again, nothing they say, and I get so sick, you do too, I get sick of the word "science" behind it. I mean, come on, there's no science. The basis of scientific inquiry for hundreds, if not thousands of years, is basically thrown out the window.

Well, it's the science of mass murder, and the science of depopulation. That's what it is.

Steve Quayle:

Here's the thing, mass murder is the goal. When you want your goal, whatever the goal is to be, in this case, mass murder, and I'm talking global genocide, I'm talking the annihilation of the human race, literally, which, by the way, appear on this DVD. The bottom line is that all options are open.

See, that's what I'm trying my darndest to get people to understand is that they have declared, it doesn't matter what you say, it doesn't matter how many people die of heart attacks. By the way,

healthrangerstore.com/BASpirulina

I believe that fulfills a literal scripture, where Jesus said, "Men's hearts would fail them for looking after those things coming upon the earth." The whole Wuhan virus, and all of the negative attributes, people dying, all the things you listed, all the issues are, basically, those are causing people to move on fear, instead of looking at a matter, judging evidence.

What do we see? We see Twitter twatter, blood will splatter, as basically, what was the censoring anything that's true, even if it's from the Lancet. The Lancet says, don't make second class citizens out of those who refuse the vaccine, and yet, they're making second class citizens. What they're doing is creating -- here's something, Mike, nobody said, when people start to die, who have been vaccinated, they're not going to take it out on the authorities, they're going to come after the people that weren't vaccinated, because of jealousy and envy. I'm telling you point blank, that's what the stage is being set for. Same thing with class warfare, same thing with race warfare, its jealousy and envy. I'm going to tell people don't burn down your backyards if you want to go home at night. Don't burn down the restaurants that you go in order a make burger from. Don't do that. By the way, when the power goes off, there's no television.

Tell us what's coming to America, because already, in Australia, we are seeing the government with police going out and rounding up people for medical kidnapping, forcefully taking them against their will to a concentration camp. That's not hyperbole. It's exactly what's happening. We're seeing similar efforts underway in Austria for vaccine passport checking and arrests. We just saw a sit-in of people in New York City, here in America, being arrested, I think at a Cheesecake Factory, for not complying with certain COVID restrictions.

Steve, in your view, are door-to-door medical kidnapping arrest coming to America, are they going to round people up in certain states, in certain areas in America, and take them into concentration camps? Are they going to have gunpoint medicine, force you to take a vaccine at gunpoint anywhere in America? Is that coming?

Absolutely. I think it's already being proposed. You had Cramer, the financial guys saying that people need to be forced at the barrel of a gun to, basically, take the vaccine. I will go on further and be a little bit firmer, Mike, I believe that camps are not containment camps. I believe that they are killing fields. I believe that people will go in and they'll never come out, because remember, this is what people have got to keep beating their brains up with or keep reminding themselves: As a better statement, they want maximum death. In order to facilitate maximum death, the people that go into the camps, I want to make it clear, if you're a husband, you got a wife, you're separated for life. You don't want to know what they're going to do to the women, and I can't bring myself to tell them that, I just can't, or your children. Are you kidding me? Mike, here's the thing, you've seen it, there are 260 some thousand guillotines already positioned all through the United States, military bases and FEMA camps, and so, you asked me, will you be forced into a camp at the point of a gun? Yeah, but what's even sadder than that, those are the Clergy Response Teams. Major pastors will tell their parishioners, I'm talking 20,000, 30,000, 40,000 church membership, to go with the authorities, because it's in Romans 13, "that all government is given by God." That's not true. All godly government is given by God, and the scripture is very clear on that.

Here's what I'm saying, I'm saying, forget the camps being called containment camps. They are slaughter camps, and that's everybody who I've ever talked to, intelligence agents, multiple star generals, special ops not retired, telling me about what the plans are. As seriously, Mike, they are going to do everything they can to kill the maximum amount of people. Obviously, it's already going on. You're seeing it happen.

Mike Adams:

The FEMA camps will become slaughterhouses. And I noticed you mentioned guillotines, and some people will question that, but let me add, the reason they're using guillotines, folks, is because the guillotines require no electricity to function, and they don't require ammunition, and they require no training to operate. They can be used over and over again in very low tech, off grid situations by untrained obedient murderers, and that's why guillotines, okay? Because we're talking about a battlefield that's going to have a loss of the power grid, logistics and distribution, supply problems, obviously, an ammunition shortage. As Steve just said, what we're looking at is a situation where the media propaganda, whatever still functioning on a local radio, or something, might say, "Oh, are you hungry? Are you starving? Show up at this address in town, and you'll have food." You show up, and they usher you in, and then they slaughter you.

Steve Quayle:

It'll be AI, and it'll be crowd driven. "All my friends just went in and just texted me," Are you kidding me? They'll take away your cell phone you know. "I'm having three square meals a day, and the people here are really nice." That will be the equivalent of Tokyo rose offering to the American servicemen. "Come in, and we've got a nice wall, where you can lean up against," except she doesn't tell you, the firing squad is there. That's, Mike, the sadness, and that's what makes me so upset, okay?

People are cooperating in their own demise is one thing, people setting up their wives for their eventual death or worse. If you read what happens to women that are taken captive by the Taliban, it's so horrible, I can't even express it. In Afghanistan, mothers are selling theirsix- and eight-year-old girls to old Afghan men for sex, for enough food to eat.

Getting back the United States, I believe we're going into like forced hard lockdown. The only thing I see that will interrupt that is a nuclear first strike by the Russians against the United States. I think it's another thing that people got to understand that the forced vaccination – look, shot in the arm, shot in the head, either way, you end up dead. That's not just a cliché.

Mike Adams:

What's extraordinary though, Steve, is that there are so many Americans, typical leftists, they are obedience worshipers. It's almost like they're competing in an obedience contest. If a local government "authority" tells them, "Well, you need to show up and report at this facility," and you're going to get a free vaccine shot, or a free double masking, or whatever, they will be glad to show up. They will obey any order, no matter how insane it is. They will give up their guns, they will give up their children, they will give up their assets, anything to comply with obedience, and they will be slaughtered. There's a moment when you're looking at this, and you realize that this is kind of natural selection, in a sense, as they say, the Darwin Award. Who's winning the Darwin Award? They are the people, who are the obedience worshipers.

Who are the survivors? Well, those are the preppers, those are the people who said no, those are the people who saw what was coming, and protected their children, their families, their communities. It's the Christians, it's the Patriots, it's the veterans, a lot of the cops, it's the preppers and the survivalists. Those are the ones who are going to still be here as this mass genocidal slaughterhouse die-off actually accelerates.

Steve Quayle:

Well, and I think that prepping is a biblical principle. I'll give it too, because I've heard Christians say, "Oh, you don't have any faith." Well, let me share something, Noah obeyed God, and basically, we all wouldn't be here if it wasn't for Noah. Joseph obeyed God. God told him go interpret Pharaoh's dream, there's going to be seven years of plenty, seven years of famine, you can go through the entire Old and New Testament. Jesus on the Sermon on the Mount, all the people were hungry, there was a little boy there that has some fish, and some loaves of bread. He brought it to Jesus, somebody sent their child in a prep mode, because the mother didn't know when her son would come back. The parable of the 10 virgins. Everything in the Bible, even the Scripture says, "The wise man sees evil coming, and hides himself from it. But fools pass on, and are destroyed." The most dangerous scripture, and I mean dangerous, and Christians need to really see God on this, in my opinion, if God Himself says his people are destroyed for lack of knowledge, not because He doesn't warn them, but because they don't listen to Him, and they reject it. Again, Mike, and this is a principle in Scripture. You can have the most famous prophets in the Old Testament and Jesus in the New Testament, and they can tell you what's going to happen.

Here's a great statement, I didn't make it up. I believe the Lord really drew my attention to it though. No word of God spoken by a man of God, or a woman of God, is ever received by the people at the time it is given. The scriptural proof of that is Jesus said to the most religious people in the world, the Jews of his day that turned Him over to Rome, and couldn't wait to get rid of Jesus, and He said to them, "You quote the prophets, but which of the prophets did you not kill?" In essence, they just don't want to hear the truth.

When a nation has given over to blindness, deception, greed, perversion, no love for the truth, no fighting for the innocent, no standing up for the unborn, it's a principle in history, people can challenge it, obviously. As a writer of ancient history and prehistory, I know the history of what happens when nations become so self-centered, and let's just say this, essentially driven, they end up being destroyed. The Roman Senate is no different than our Senate, except they didn't have Nancy Pelosi and her 31 flavors of ice cream, or the House of Representatives. Somebody said to me, "What do you think of the House of Representatives?" I said, well, they represent themselves very well. They want to take our houses, but they sure like their houses.

Again, Mike, here's the thing, people have got to wake up. If they don't wake up, they die. People have got to grow up. If they don't grow up, they die. People have got to understand the lateness of the hour. If they don't understand the lateness of the hour, they die, because as much as they don't want to admit, the reality that exists in the world today, that reality of the world is going to make them cannon fodder, and it's going to steamroll them all.

Steve, in addition to the vaccine induced die-off, just give us your thoughts, just kind of a summary if you would please, about the risk of smallpox being released, aerosolized release systems. We know there are skin penetrating toxic nanoparticles. Those were mentioned in the Eco Health Alliance proposal to DARPA for government funding, which was denied by DARPA, by the way. What about weaponized Ebola, hemorrhagic fever, Marburg, what are your thoughts on other biological weapons that could be dropped on U.S. cities in 2022 or beyond?

Steve Quayle:

Well, I believe they're all going to be released, because, I believe, the end goal, and everybody needs to understand this, is the word extinction of the human race, or substitute even a little more powerful word, the annihilation of the human race. All of the pathogens of viruses, whether it's Ebola pox, which, by the way, came out of a laboratory, whether it's any form of smallpox derivatives or smallpox combinations, whether it's any of the Filo viruses, which are hemorrhagic fever, whether it's any genetically tweaked, built from scratch virus, they're all going to be followed up, because they have to terrorize people. Terrorize people, means people dropping dead before -- it's one thing when somebody drops down on a basketball court, or in a pool hall, and there's just no blood. It's another thing when hemorrhaging and bloods every place, okay? Because blood indicates life.

Knowing what's in the bio arsenals of the world -- and by the way, they don't have to spray it on cities -- what do you do? You just vaccinate a bunch of people with a specific string of vaccines that has an incubation period of let's say 14 days, you turn them loose in all the major cities of America.

I actually came up with a term for those people 25 years ago, I call them "infectons," okay? Intentionally infected people. Not Cylons, like from Battlestar Galactica, but "infectons." We're seeing that happen right now. Ebola, that's going to be the next buzz, because guess what? There are people that have combination Ebola bio weapon patents. Who might that be? You know, the Gates of hell, who wants to be Dr. Mengele.

Mike, it's succinctly as I know, it's all going to be released, ratcheting up in fear, and people will do anything once they begin to see people dying, bleeding out, and hearing the horror stories, because that's what the mainstream, and I don't use it MSM, mainstream media, I use mainstream ATM, mainstream Accessories To Murder," because they are all owned. Every single one of the major networks are owned by Luciferian globalists, and people that are in total control of the narrative. So, yes, all of the above. Again, they figured out a better way to do it. I call it the airlines, now, my new term for them is "scarelines," okay?

Again, the lack of admitting to the true science of transmission and shedding virus. By the way, everybody who's going in the hospitals and dying are the ones that are vaccinated. Why would the people that supposedly want to defend the health of the country be against anything that does work?

Mike, in my opinion, and I think it's an educated opinion, because I wrote the book, "Breathe No Evil" 20 years ago. I was the first guy, and I'm not bragging, I'm just telling you, to talk about binary, even chemical weapons. In Russia, it was called Novichok for newcomers. But I paid attention to the defectors from Russia in those days, Soviet Union, and I know what's out there. They will conveniently pull out in their, I would call, bag of death what they need to scare the most amount of people into compliance.

Here's my statement, compliance -- I know this isn't the right word, so they don't have to write you -- but compliance equals die-off, okay? The more you comply, the more people die. That's my statement. They don't have to spray it. The chemtrail spraying has been going on for 26 years, and again, for the record, I was the first guy to bring it up, because the aerosolized engineering of the atmosphere also did one thing, it began to destroy the human immune system, it began to poison the food, it began to poison the water, the wildlife, the fish. These are sinisterly evil, demonic controlled entities.

Let's talk about transhumanism, because part of this, as you know, is the destruction of humanity as we currently know it. Now, in addition to the vaccines being mRNA instructions that take over your human cells and program your cells with an operating system, to produce non-human proteins. I mean, the companies that make these brag about that's what it does. In addition to the gene altering effects of this, the trans genetic or transfection effects, we know the spike protein goes into the nucleus of the cell, for example. We know this is really gene therapy applied to alter people from something other than human, but in addition to that, we now have this astonishing new announcement from IBM. In partnership with Samsung, they have announced a new Skynet level microprocessor technology that allows them to stack microprocessors in the z plane, their vertical transistors, which opens up enormous increases in computational density, combined with an 85 percent power reduction in the use of the transistors. The upshot is that this means they can now unleash the global Internet of Things with AI supercomputers embedded in clothing, embedded in devices, embedded in cameras, everywhere, and ultimately embedded in your skull, and through the Neuralink technology, then having an AI supercomputer, cloud-run, augmented reality rendering system that feeds overlays directly into your optical nerves, and your inner ear, your entire sensory experience. They use so little power, they can be run on the bio electric power produced in your body, that potential in your own skin. In other words, we're talking full matrix here. You're going to be a copper top, you're going to be blue pill, you're going to be plugged into the matrix, Mark Zuckerberg's Metaverse, you won't even have to wear goggles. They'll just interface directly with your brain, and they will give you their reality and turn you into a biological robot. That Skynet level AI microprocessor technology was just announced on December 14 of 2021. Your thoughts on transhumanism, Steve?

Well, first of all, I wrote a book called "Genetic Armageddon." I dealt with transhumanism in that book 20 years ago, and this is important. The last book I wrote, outside of my book, "Jesus - The Promise of the Promise," was terminated. The end of man is here, okay? With the Terminator robot, and there are two headstones that are there, Mike, this is important. The headstone one says, "Here lies the human race," and the next one says, "Who failed to see their end, when they stare them in the face."

All transhumanists, according to the most famous ones, Zoltan Istvan made the statement at the heart of a transhumanist -- they want to live forever. That's a promise that the devil made to Eve in the Garden of Eden, that she would not die, so they're not going to die. This is the replacement of humanity, which is called H+ or singularity. Singularity is another term for emerging men and machines, until the men part of that equation are done away with, the Neuralink and all of the events

By the way, everything you ran through, is already out there, it's already in place. The Super Soldier program, it exists on multiple continents. China has them, US has them, Russia has them. The Jean-Claude Van Damme movie, hey, it was ahead of its time Universal Soldier.

Ultimately, Mike, it's promising mankind godlike abilities apart from God. What I mean by godlike abilities, you'll never die, you'll basically get a boost, and whatever power system you need, and you'll be able to pretty much live forever. The other thing that's interesting, and I coined the term, "Star Trek Boardicated." You can figure out what the "icated" comes from, but you're assimilated into the Internet of Things. Everything you think do and say will be programmed into you in a different way. There'll be different classes of what I would call "terminatees." Those who are allowed to live will become purely mechanized bio replacements of former human beings, and then they become, interestingly enough, demon-possessed, because a demon is a disembodied spirit of a giant. A Fallen Angel is not a demon. The ghost in the machine, in other words, sentient entities will take control of inanimate objects, and you'll have, basically, a supernatural evil life force animating a, if you will, genetically altered, once human, automaton.

The Metaverse, the universe, everything is designed to separate mankind from the reality of God's creation. The devil is promising everybody eternal life, eternal power, eternal pleasure, eternal perversion, and in essence, there was an interesting interesting phenomenal. You know this. Google robots were programmed initially to stay within the confines of their original programming language, but what happened? The inventors found out the robots were starting to go outside of their design parameters, and they can only do that, in my opinion, through the presence of evil spirits. The old statement, can inanimate objects be demon-possessed? Absolutely.

Over and around the world, taboo is always an inanimate object that is spiritually empowered to keep people in fear, and that's the whole basis of all of the taboos of the world. To answer your question, the termination of the human race is underway. What we're being told of today existed years ago, and they're breaking it to us little by little until, guess what? We're all absorbed into the board.

Mike Adams:

Let's get into more of the demonic possession, and specifically, it seems like many of the so-called leaders of our world, Daniel Andrews in Australia, Jacinda Ardern in New Zealand, Cuomo or Newsom in America, or Pelosi, for that matter. To many people these entities appear to be demonically possessed, some would even say the Pope. I think you refer to the Pope as an entity. To what extent do you believe that demonic possession is currently in place? Possessing the once human bodies of these world leaders, so-called leaders, who are enslaving humanity under medical tyranny, and COVID genocide, with actual concentration camps, transitioning into slaughterhouses for global depopulation. Are the demons already running this?

Absolutely, but more importantly than that, they're yielding themselves, these world leaders, many of them are going to have literal encounters with Lucifer. To remind people, Lucifer isn't the typical Underwood Deviled Ham, and the projection of the satanic statues. He was the ultimate beautiful being in heaven before God kicked him out. Some of those leaders, and I'm told of this, Mike, by people in the know, that have been to Antarctica, they had go there to pledge their allegiance to Lucifer, their undying fealty. So, it is one thing to be demon-possessed again.

I want to make it clear, a demon is a disembodied spirit. Disembodied spirits come from something that was hybridized. When a human woman gave birth to a fallen angel child, and fallen angels are capable of looking like humans, the Bible says they can even manifest themselves of angels of light. That means fallen angels can take on human reproductive capabilities, and sired these giants, these hybrids. Mike, those things when they died, became demons on the Earth. 1/3 of the angels of heaven fell. Those are the fallen angels.

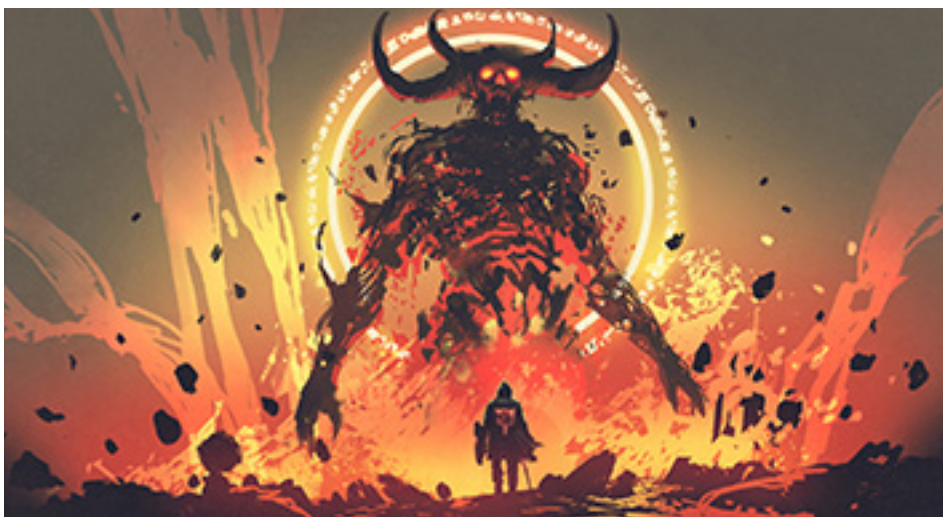

They can take on human form. I believe they are the replacements. I believe that the normal humans, once they yield themselves to a specific level of evil, they no longer are human. You and I have had that talk, they are no longer human.

There is an appetite of hell. Demons are always considered ghouls. Human sacrifice, human cannibalism, all of it. I've written about books like that for 40 years, all tracks back to people appeasing the gods with blood. It goes back to Moloch in the Old Testament days. They used to burn their babies alive in the arms of the false god Moloch. Obviously, Moloch is the God of the Bohemian Grove. Moloch is not a god, basically, people who sell their souls to gain power by sacrificing innocent blood. What I'm trying to say is this. It's my contention that Jesus said, there's going to be a small remnant, but I think the whole world is going to go after Satan, because Jesus said, the whole world lies in the evil one. That means they can't tell the truth once they've given themselves over.

By the way, some of the major evangelists in United States have sold their souls to Lucifer. That's not speculation. That's from people who have been at Luciferian initiations, and seen them there.

Alright, Steve, I want to thank you for your time and your wisdom in this entire documentary series. We have raised the alert for humanity,

I believe, in this. Shared a lot of information, scratched the surface on just some other topics. I know you have a wealth of knowledge on other things, including we didn't really talk yet about earthquakes that much, and volcanoes, and what to expect. Just wrapping this up, in the interest of time. What final thought do you want to leave people with here for this "Battlefield America" series? What should people take from this?

Steve Quayle:

Everything that's been normal that even was in the context of a hurricane, or tornado, or earthquake, volcanic eruptions, everything is going to worsen, to the point that people say, "I've never seen it like this." Ladies and gentlemen, that's because it's never been like this.

Mike, I just want to say this. You appear on this. This is my last time at bat, okay, producing DVDs, and you're on this, Dane Wigington is on this, and actually, I don't appear on screen on this. But it's water wars, nuclear war about to ignite the greatest migration of humanity in Earth's history. No matter how bad you think it's going to get, it's going to be worse, okay?

I believe the only way to deal with it is in intellectual honesty, and in my understanding of history, and understanding of the way the world's going, 12 books, 6 videos. I can tell you this, Jesus told us it was going to happen, Jesus told us He'd be with us as it happens, and if it weren't for Jesus, I couldn't breathe another day.

I want to share this too, because this is my bottom line. The only way any of us are going to make it through this is by caring enough for our loved ones, our families, our country, to be able to fight for it in every realm, and to be ready to lay down our lives for it, because Jesus laid his life down for us.

Mike, I just want to thank you. Listen, this is a true statement. You have made such a contribution to the combined efforts of all of the conferences I've been able to put on in person, and then on virtual conferences. I think people, you've got to understand, we do know what we're talking about. Somebody said, "Well, you're a conspiracy theorist," by the way, that was invented by the CIA in 1967. I said, No, I'm a conspiracy realist, because the ultimate conspiracy is a spiritual one, where Satan himself lied to a third of the angels, and they believed it, and they got thrown out of heaven. When people call me a conspiracy theorist, I say, Nope. I said, first of all, define conspiracy, and they can't do it. And I said, then, what's the difference between a theorist and a realist? A realist has real-world experience, and can base the evidence of his position.

I'm also a human racist. I want people to know I'm a racist, but it's a human racist. I'm fighting as you're fighting, we're fighting for the literal nature and the ongoing viability of the human race. Jesus said, "If you didn't shorten the days for the elect's sake, there'll be no flesh left alive." That means extinction. We would become annihilated. So, I make no apologies for that, but unfortunately, so few people want to deal with. I tell people, they have to understand everybody has the last breath, a last view, a last smell, a last taste, a last meal, a last kiss, last hug, and where are you going when you believe the lie, and you find out that the man entity, actually not a man, the Cherub, Lucifer, every promise he made was a lie? He says, when the screen goes out of hell, "but you lied to us," and the devil himself answers, "Yes, but you believed it."

People have got to understand if they will apply themselves into knowledge, if they will see that the Bible has the answers, and they will seek God, the living gods, say God, "if You're real, reveal Yourself to me," because Mike, what you're seeing is a displacement of Christianity by occult forces, where Biblical Christianity is now such a minor part of our contemporary history, that we are once a great nation, one nation under God, indivisible, with liberty and justice for all, now, we're a divided nation. We are no longer one nation under God, we're not under God anymore. We've kicked God out. The Democrats made war on Him, and the Republicans without spines, and they'd been bought off too

The enclosing, ladies and gentlemen, you've got to see the world for as it is. Not what you hope it will become the future, not even what it was in the past, you can't go back, but what will you do. What will you do when it's up to you to decide the fate of your family?

Mike, I got to tell you, there's no turning the nation around, in my opinion. Someone says, "Well, that's a negative." There is no turning it around, but what people can do is turn their lives over to the living God, and this will get a lot of people mad, but find out He has the answers for this very time, because God says in His Word, He is the Lord. He's the only one that could declare the end of a thing, meaning the end times, at the beginning of a thing.

Again, thank you for what you do, and again, thank you for all the times you have graced the conferences, both real and virtual, and I consider it an honor to be on with you today.

Mike Adams:

Well, I consider it a great honor to have your time here and your wisdom with us. I want to say God bless you, Steve, for all that you have done for humanity, spanning several decades, and the things that you wrote about even in the late 1990s that seemed outlandish, have now come true.

Humanity is at a dangerous turning point right now. America is lost. I agree with your assessment. America, as we know it, is lost, but the America that lives within our spirit can be reborn. Born Again, literally, in the Christian tradition.

Steve Quayle:

I'm not ruling that out, okay? But values have to be reestablished that give equal justice under the law that absolutely defend the life of the unborn, and value -- not hate -- life. Transhumanists hate humanity, because they, the lead transhumanists, are driven by very evil spiritual forces that are hell-bent on destroying mankind.

Mike Adams:

Absolutely, you've nailed it. Alright, Steve, we've reached the end of this documentary series. For all of you watching, I want to say thank you for watching this. You do have permission to repost this in its entirety. And of course, please support Steve Quayle. We put his website URL on screen, and support Brighteon.com, so that we can continue to create documentaries like this, and raise the alarm, and bring awareness to these desperate issues, as humanity fights for its very survival.

For all of you watching, I want to say thank you, God bless each and every one of you. Thank you for your prayers. I'm Mike Adams, the founder of Brighteon.com, and Steve Quayle, thank you so much for joining us today.

Steve Quayle:

You're welcome, Mike. God bless everybody. ■ year 2025 or maybe not even by 2022 - we'll see. There is going to be a food supply collapse that will feed into the mass starvation, famine, and social unrest. There will be more biological weapons used to cause a second wave of the pandemic and there may be cyberattacks on the power grid, EMP weapons launched, additional false flag events to cause more wars in the United States, and so on. The bottom line is we could say roughly 90% of the human population will be killed off in the coming years.

CHAPTER 6 Gluts and Scarcity

CHAPTER 1 The Die-Off

Welcome to this special report entitled Ghost World 2022 - 2032. In this special report, we're going to look at the next 10 years and the mass die-off caused by various reports, based on autopsies, lab-finders, and many other sources, which are in fact depopulation designed to achieve a global die-off.

Over that more than half the world's population has been injected with at least one mRNA shot, perhaps 60 plus percent of the population. Many of those who have had a smaller percentage will die. We know from the fact that the vaccines destroy the cells, making people vulnerable to various common infections, such as colds or flu strains.

And normally never kill a person, but they will kill people who are in a depressed status because of the cause of the mRNA injections, are causing the body's cells in major organs such as hearts, lungs, livers, and so on, to grow spike proteins themselves. This is causing the immune system to react to these foreign nanoparticles which are toxic bio-weapons that are being injected into the cells that line the heart, the lungs, the spleen or other organs.

The immune system responds with killer cells and thereby attacks these organs. It is the killing them by destroying their heart. This is why so many seemingly young healthy people are dying after receiving the vaccine. Blood clots, of course, are causing those a great number of people. But the medium term and long-term effects, which include cancer, and acceleration of cancer tumors and what will kill people over the next decade.

to cheat with dead voters. The more the more difficult it is for them to cheat, the more accelerating, and this means that the die-off is accelerating, and this means that more people are going to be strongly impacted, and also even more people are going to be strongly impacted by the 2022 presidential election, of course, the 2024 presidential election, if it is even allowed to take place, that is a big question. We're not even sure if the 2022 midterms will be allowed to be really held, because the Democrats are likely to be really politically slaughtered in that election, because of the catastrophic nature of their policies and the suffering that the American people are going through right now, which includes, of course, food inflation, supply chain failures, a loss of freedom, continued pushing vaccines and lockdowns that nobody wants. There's a real fatigue against the pandemic, and fatigue against Joe Biden, and just outright hatred against Kamala Harris, so we're not even sure the 2022 midterms are going to take place. Nevertheless, because of the vaccine die-off, the trend is very strongly moving forward is fewer and fewer Democrats voting.

Now, what does that mean? Does that mean we're going to be saved by the GOP? Highly doubtful. The GOP is just the other side of the grand theatrical production. Both Democrats and the GOP are all prostheses to big pharma, with very few exceptions. They work for pharma.
